Notes

Content and features will not be displayed for users who do not have permissions to view them.

- 1 Search results are grouped onto sub-tabs according to the type of result:
 - Service Parts
 - Models
 - Orders
 - Invoices

The number of results for each type is displayed next to the type name on the tab.

Tabs of result types will not be displayed for users who do not have permissions to view them.

- 2 Clicking on the "+Add" button on any page will cause the "how many" popup to appear.

Quantity defaults to "1". After the user enters the quantity and clicks "Add to Cart", the Shopping Cart status (number of items, estimated total) updates to reflect their selection.

- 3 Part # and Description text links are hyperlinked to the View Service Part page for the selected part.
- 4 Clicking "Show details" link will expand the selected item without reloading the page.

Content and features will not be displayed for users who do not have permissions to view them.

1 The "Return to <Previous Screen Name>" text link is hyperlinked to the page the user came from to reach the View Model page.

2 Clicking on the "Add to cart" button will cause the "how many" popup to appear.

Quantity defaults to "1". After the user enters the quantity and clicks "Add to Cart", the Shopping Cart status (number of items, estimated total) updates to reflect their selection.

4 PO #, Order #, and Invoice # text links are hyperlinked to the respective View Order and View Invoice pages.

3 "Filter by date" drop-down options:
 All
 Last 24 hours
 Last 7 days
 Last 30 days
 Last 90 days
 Last 365 days
 Custom date range

When "Custom date range" is selected, date selection drop-down boxes appear, as on the Search Results (Orders) page.

5 "Re-order" links copy the item list, quantities, and shipping information (if not already specified) of the selected order to the shopping cart.

4 "Marketing Resources" text link is hyperlinked to the related page in the CLIENT NAMEdealers.com site.

Estimated Total: $64.99 \(recalculate\)

Notes

Content and features will not be displayed for users who do not have permissions to view them.

- 1 Clicking the "recalculate" link will update all price totals to reflect any alterations to the quantities. Ideally, price totals will update automatically when quantities are altered. If this is technically possible, there is no need for the "recalculate" links.
- 2 The blank rows allow the user to add items directly to the cart via inputting a model/part number. Once a model/part number has been added, the system should query the database for that model/part and populate the remaining fields in the row. The "quantity" field should default to "1" during this population.

Only 10 blank rows will be displayed during a users shopping cart session. If a user fill sup all 10 rows, the can click the "add another row" link, which will add a blank row to the bottom of the stack for each click of "add another row". The "add another row" row will remain beneath all added rows.

- 3 Clicking the "remove" link will cause a confirmation popup to appear as follows:

If the user clicks the "Remove" button in the confirmation popup, the item will be removed from the shopping cart.

- 4 Clicking a part/model # link will take the user to the appropriate "view model" or "view service part" page for that specific model or part.

Notes

- 1 Certain features will not be displayed for users who do not have permissions to view them.
- 2 The help page consists of 3 levels:
 - 1) the help index (this page)
 - 2) the section detail (the next page), which describes what you'll find on a certain page
 - 3) the how-to's and section specific help items – anything that requires enough explanation to warrant it's own section of help
- 3 There is also context-specific help, which is launched via a small question mark icon on every page. This icon lives in the right of the tabbed navigation bar as follows:

Clicking on this icon will launch a small contextual window that describes what you'll find on the current page:

Clicking the "(more)" link within this window will take you to the current page's "section detail" page within the help section of the site.
